Bringing Tree Equity to Boston

Our mission is to celebrate, preserve, and plant trees in Boston.

OUR WORK SUPPORT US

What We've Accomplished

- 400+ Trees planted
- 1,000+ Trees given away
- 9,000+ Trees inventoried

Our New Website is now live

We have been doing a little spring cleaning and designed a new website. Our new website features new resources, photos, and information about our work. We're making it easier to follow our work and stay connected. We'd love to hear what you think!

Our 2020 Annual report

Through all of its twists and turns, 2020 was a busy year for Speak For The Trees Boston. We hosted our Teen Urban Tree Corps program, gave away hundreds of trees, advocated with the Friends of Melnea Cass Boulevard, and much more. Read about our work, financials, and achievements in our 2020 annual report.

A few more ArborWeek Events

Arbor Week is almost over. There are still a few events left! Register on our website or by clicking the green buttons below.

All our webinars, discussions, and talks will be available as zoom recordings on the events page of our website once Arbor Week is over so they can continue to be a resource into the future.

50 Years of Friends: Memories, Moments, and Milestones April 30th from 6:30pm

Our friends at the Friends of the Public Garden are turning 50! Celebrate a half century of parks care of the Boston Common, Public Garden, and Commonwealth Avenue Mall. Hear about the restoration of Boston's three parks in the heart of downtown from being almost beyond saving to where they are today, and see lots of fun videos of life in the parks over the ages!

Boston Public Library Resources

An amazing compilation of tree and environmental justice resources has been added to the Boston Public Library's Research Guides page. The Speak For The Trees library guide includes tree reading recommendations, species identification and care guides, digitized resources, and much more! A huge thank you to our partners at the Boston Public Library for making this wealth of information available to all.

Massachusetts Nonprofit Network Excellence Award Finalist

We're humbled to have been selected as a finalist for the Massachusetts Nonprofit Network 2021 Excellence Awards in the Small Nonprofit category. We are so honored to be considered for this award alongside so many fantastic organizations. We hope to continue to work towards an equitable, healthy urban forest in Boston and are excited to use this opportunity to celebrate and share our work. The awards will be held virtually on June 23rd, 2021. We'll keep you posted.

We're Hiring

Community Outreach Manager

The Full-time Community Outreach Manager will help to expand our mission of Tree Equity to Boston by bringing our programs to under-resourced and under-canopied neighborhoods of Boston.
