Thank you Bank of America!

We're thrilled be partnering again this year with the Bank of America Charitable Foundation. Over the past 3 years they've supported our tree planting work, our teen program, and our general operations. We're so thrilled to have received a $25,000 grant this year that will continue to bring Tree Equity to Boston.

Great Learning Opportunity from the US Forest Service SCIENCEx Webinars

The SCIENCEx webinar series brings together scientists and land management experts from across U.S. Forest Service research stations and beyond to explore the latest science and best practices for addressing large natural resource challenges across the country.

These webinars will be primarily management focused, but with applicability for participants from across sectors. SCIENCEx will typically be organized as week-long webinar 'blitzes' around salient topics, allowing for deep-dives into subtopics or dynamics within specific geographies.
